

Unit 18: Intramammary Teacher's notes

Introduction

Mastitis treatments and dry cow therapy are normally administered intramammary. In some cases of mastitis, antibiotic injections are also needed.

This session will look at the different types of intramammary products and the correct method of administering intramammary products

Key words

Intramammary

Parenteral (injection)

Antibiotic

Dry cow therapy

Teat canal

Infusion

Teat sealant

Resources

- Factsheet
- Relevant websites

Learning activities to generate evidence that learning has taken place

- Quiz and word search